FROM THE EDITOR!
 "UNSPOKEN THOUGHTS"
 Boston Marathon bombing, seems to have awakened the urge for people to be looking for strange packages. For the next 6 months, I imagine that law enforcement will be swamped with calls. Some might be important, most will be seeing ghosts.
 There were some kids, that without thinking it through, made a bomb using a bottle and baking soda. All you have to do is ad water and place an air tight lid. The only thing that they did not consider was getting arrested for this prank. Since they were minors, they will not face a harsh sentencing. If they were 18 years or older, this prank is now a felony offense. I know that pranks like this are probably not the smartest thing a person can do, but if their I.Q. is that of a mackerel, you could do some hard time. I wonder when we will start making it illegal to own backpacks, pressure cookers and baking soda. It is getting to the point that everything around us in our daily lives has potential to be a deadly weapon. Kids are now kicked out of school and their parents are punish if their children use their thumb and index finger to make the imaginary gun and make sounds with their mouths like they are shooting. Our country is really going down the toilet, when we allow children to be chastised for being children. The concept that seems to becoming more and more acceptable is the socialist attitude of children are public property. We are now grooming our offspring to accept without challenge any thing that Government dictates. I am glad that at my age I will not have to witness the total down fall of what was once a great nation. I plan to retire in a couple years and without a doubt I will be heading South. Costa Rica or Belize will be my destination. I will miss the country of my youth.
