FROM THE EDITOR!
 "UNSPOKEN THOUGHTS"

First: I would like to say fair well to Hovie Phillips. Hovie passed away on Nov. 29th. You will be missed, thanks for your friendship.

Second: Week before last I did not get a chance to give a shout out to Robert who called in on the editorial about Opra Winfrey and her awkward solution to our nations problems.

Well the trial has started for the murder of Kelly Thomas.

This is a sad moment for all the families involved. The amount of force that was used took a young mans life. I understand that he had mental health issues and that is a travesty that he was homeless. Not a reason to be killed by a broken system. I heard on the radio that in 2010 that L.A. County hired 188 new officers. For most of us that would be great news. Now the reality check! These new hires were the dregs that had been booted off other police agencies in the state. Their offenses ranged from failing lie detector tests to physical abuse of inmates and child molestation. Then we wonder how a young man could have been beat to death? We put our faith in a system that only looks after itself. We have become afraid to complain to the elected officials because we might become their next target. We need to have all police agencies headed by individuals that actual remember that their oath was to protect and serve the public, not to pad a nice fat retirement program for themselves at our expense. It is only going to continue until we grow a pair and put our foot down hard and heavy! CALL ME!!!
